

Social and Personal.

THIS fifth dance given by the Richmond German Club took place last night in the Masque Temple, and was a very brilliant affair. The lights were shaded in pale yellow, and the decorations were of the chandeliers, and groups of palms formed a background for the chaperons and decorated the stage. In the dining room daffodils and magnolias were used very effectively for the table decorations.

Colonel Jo Lane Stern led the German, dancing with Miss Elsie Ingram, one of the belles of last winter, who wore a charming frock of pink chiffon built over satin, and embroidered in gold. She carried a nosegay of lilies and orchids.

Lathrop-Wilson.

Mrs. E. Willis Wilson has issued invitations for the marriage of her daughter, Willis, to Clement Barksdale Lathrop, of this city, the ceremony to take place on Tuesday evening, February 8, at half-after 8 o'clock, in St. John's Episcopal Church, Charleston-Kanawha, W. Va.

Miss Wilson, who is a daughter of the late Governor Wilson, of West Virginia, is a very beautiful girl, and has been a belle of the White Sulphur for the past two seasons. Mr. Lathrop is widely related throughout the State, and is prominent in social and club circles of Richmond.

The wedding will be a very brilliant affair, and will be preceded by a number of handsome entertainments in honor of the bride-elect.

Miss Buck to Entertain.

Miss Ella Buck will be hostess at a card party on Thursday evening, January 27, at half-after 8 o'clock, in her home on West Franklin Street.

Miss Catherine and Imogen Ridick, of this city, went to New Orleans last week and will remain there until after the carnival at the guests of Mrs. James Pagan and her debutante daughter, Miss Olive Mason.

The midwinter German was given last night in the Fayerweather Gymnasium by the German Club of the University of Virginia. There were fewer couples on the floor than usual, but the German was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The figures were beautifully led by George Mason, of "Edge Hill," and John Pinner, of the University.

The chaperons were Mesdames Alderman, Byster, Harmon, Perkins, M. Woods, Trotter and Booker. Among those present were Misses Dabney, Harmon, Miles, Cooke, of Roanoke; Towles, Hancok, Woods, Antrim, Maury Mrs. Russell, Galtier, Jones, Johnston, Traylor, of Richmond; Thayer, Mrs. George Mason, Mrs. McComas; Messrs. Beach, Booker, Brown, Howell, Crump, Dovel, Frances and Lucian Cooke, Tazewell, D. Chalmers, Bowen, Hughes, Murphy, Nelson, Hume, Grant, Faulkner, Trotter, Hancok, Wood, Galtier, Pinner, Cecil, Marshall, Harmon, Porter, Webster, McDonald, Debie, Stephens.

Decorations were in crimson flowers and palms.

Guest of Miss Massey.

Miss Florence Dickey, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is the house guest of Miss Lucile Meredith Massey, 1007 West Grace Street. Miss Massey will entertain at a tea in her honor on Wednesday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Visiting in Georgia.

Miss Louise Crump is the guest of Governor and Mrs. Brown, of Georgia, at the Governor's Mansion, in Atlanta, and will also visit relatives in that place. A number of attractive entertainments have been planned in Miss Crump's honor. She will remain some time.

Mrs. Channing Turner will leave shortly for Atlanta, Ga., where she will visit her brother, Dudley Cowles. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cowles are very pleasantly remembered in Richmond, where they spent the winter several years ago.

Mrs. Lankford's Guests Honored.

Mrs. Harry K. Walcott gave a delightful card party at her home, in Riverview, Norfolk, Thursday evening, when her guests were Miss Mary Waddill, of Richmond; Miss Kear, of Washington, N. C.; Miss Mary Harmon, of Charlottesville; Mr. and Mrs. Menalcus Lankford, Judge B. D. White, H. M. Kerr, H. E. D. Wilson and H. K. Walcott.

Mrs. J. Branch Johnson also entertained charmingly at bridge on Friday at her apartments in the Stratford, in honor of Miss Mary Waddill, of Richmond, and Miss Mary Harmon, of Charlottesville, who are the guests of Mrs. Menalcus Lankford.

There were three tables of bridge, with a prize for each. The party was won by Miss Waddill, Miss Bessie Ferritt and Mrs. H. Garrett Smith.

Miss Waddill and Miss Harmon have been entertained a great deal during their stay in Norfolk, and were among those dancing at the senior German on Friday evening.

The Richmond Chapter, U. D. C., entertained most delightfully yesterday evening in Lee Camp Hall at their annual reception. Decorations were in red and white flowers, with Confederate flags and hunting draping the walls. The young members of the chapter served the guests.

Those receiving were: Governor-Elect and Mrs. Mann, Mrs. J. Edgar Robinson, historian-general, United Daughters of the Confederacy; Mrs. Nathan Eller, president Virginia Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy; Mrs. J. M. Gregory, president of Chesterfield Chapter; Mrs. Pryor Jones, president of Petersburg Chapter; Mrs. Tipton Jennings, Lynchburg; Mrs. J. H. Timberlake, custodian of Virginia Division; Mrs. James R. Werth, Miss Betty Ellyson, chairman of entertainment committee; Mrs. Charles Massey, Oakwood; Mrs. Edgar D. Taylor, Hollywood; Mrs. Julius Moses, Hibernia; the vice-regents of the Confederate Museum, representing their respective States; Mrs. A. J. Montague, president of the Confederate Woman's Home; Mrs. A. M. Tyler, representing The Times-Dispatch; Mrs. J. W. White, president Lee Camp Auxiliary.

Edwards-Schepmoes.

A very pretty home wedding took place on Thursday evening, January 20, at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride, 19 West Clay Street, when Miss Minnie Schepmoes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Schepmoes, was given in marriage to Ernest D. Edwards, Dr. Russell Cecil performing the ceremony. A reception followed.

KEPT THEIR WEDDING A SECRET

Formal announcement of the marriage of Miss Virginia Rosson, of Woodville, Va., to H. Marvin Surface, of Roanoke, which took place December 20, was made Sunday night at the Virginia Hospital, where Mrs. Surface, a graduate nurse of that institution, is in charge of a typhoid fever patient. Mr. and Mrs. Surface have apartments at 2808 East Grace Street, and will make their future home in Roanoke after the husband receives his diploma in pharmacy at the University College of Medicine. The bridegroom received the congratulations of his fellow students yesterday morning, but the bride invited her associates to be present when the announcement was made. The event culminated a pretty romance, which began nearly two years ago, when Mr. Surface was a first-year man, and Miss Rosson was a member of the intermediate class at the hospital training school.

Woes of Discord in the Home

BY ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Do not for one instant use the money measure in estimating what you are doing for your children.

Though you may be giving them every advantage that dollars can procure, you are not performing your duty by them or by the world in which they are to live unless you are teaching them to love you by your lovable qualities, your kindness and sympathy and understanding of their young, undeveloped natures.

Many Parents' Faults.

If you are so stern that they fear you, so austere they dare not make you a confidant, so irritable over their faults that they dread the sound of your voice, so forgetful of the feelings of youth which you have outgrown that they hide all their inmost thoughts from you, then you are not a good parent, no matter if you deny yourself comforts to give them advantages and luxuries.

Unless you are making the home of your children the most agreeable place on earth, and yourself the most pleasant and loving friend they can find, the expenditure of thousands of dollars is not going to justify you in the idea of being a good parent.

"Since I was six years old," said a boy of twenty, "I never recall a happy, peaceful week at home. Everybody was unhappy and discord reigned. I used to dread my vacations."

"And I," said a woman present, "remember just three weeks when there was no discord of any kind in our family. They were three weeks of Paradise to me. There was no great happiness or sorrow over our home, no lack of control, and the nervousness and the quick temper. But those things made the house a continual scene of discomfort. My parents were ready to sacrifice life and hard-earned money for my health and education, but they did not realize the great wrong they did me in not cultivating self-control and gentleness."

A Few Good Rules.

The memories of childhood are indelible. Most children are quick of perception and sensitive to mental atmospheres, and they often suffer keenly when depression and discord are existing, though unexpressed, in the home.

Of all times make the meal hour a cheerful one for your children. Introduce agreeable subjects of conversation and avoid any unpleasant topic. Smile and look interested, even if it requires an effort, while the family sits about the board. A gloomy and silent meal hour is far worse than a long fast for a child or for an adult.

Never let your children go to sleep feeling that you are harsh or unsympathetic or unforgiving. If they have done wrong or wounded you, have a quiet talk with them, but let your last words on leaving be kind and assure them that your heart is full of love for them.

Never darken the morning with a sullen face or a harsh greeting. These are greater wrongs to a child than an inability to clothe or educate it like its playmates.

Do not let a living child feel that all your love was buried with one that died. Many a boy and girl has carried a sore heart for years because of the selfish and tactless grief of a mother for a dead brother or sister. The living living love more than the dead.

NEAR BEER DEALERS ORDERED TO CLOSE

Right in Fayetteville as to Construction of Prohibition Law.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Fayetteville, N. C., January 24.—The licensed near beer dealers of this city to-day waited upon Sheriff Watson, of Cumberland county, who had ordered the dealers to close out their business, as being in violation of the Cumberland special prohibition law, and asked to be allowed to pay $20 each for State and county tax. This request the sheriff refused, and warned the dealers that if the sale of near beer was not stopped by to-morrow morning their arrest would follow. These dealers were requested to grant near beer licenses for $500 each by the Board of Aldermen of this city. Each ordered 120 barrels of near beer, opened up, and they were proceeding with their lucrative business when confronted by the sheriff who was regular in his duties.

Sheriff Watson, backed by his legal advisers, in support of his position cited to the protesting dealers section 1 of the Cumberland county prohibition law, one of the most stringent of the special laws differing from and superseding the State law. This law forbids the sale of any and all spirituous, vinous and malt liquors and intoxicating beverages.

The dealers contend that the sale of near beer is legalized by the revenue act passed by the 1901 Legislature and by the Supreme Court of North Carolina. An interesting legal point is thus raised. Sheriff Watson is a determined official, famous for enforcement of the prohibition law. He declares he will arrest the dealers if these instructions are not observed.
